Elizabeth Greenshields Award/Grant

The Foundation provides financial assistance to artists who work in a representational style of painting, drawing, sculpting or printmaking, are in the early or developmental stage of their career, and demonstrate a commitment to making art a lifetime career. Applicants who are being considered for a grant may be asked to supply supporting documentation. The Foundation is neither a school nor a gallery. It does not conduct classes or organize exhibitions. First grants are in the amount of $15,000 (Canadian) each, and subsequent checks are in the amount of $18,000 (Canadian). Grants are made directly to the beneficiaries – not through other organizations. The Foundation requires that all grantees who are awarded a grant at any time after March 1, 2016, provide a detailed report on their artistic activity and development, forthwith upon completion of the proposed work, project, or course of study or training described in the Artistic Proposal contained in their application. Failure to do so automatically disqualifies the grantee from applying for a subsequent grant. The Foundation may include the name of a grantee, or a copy of the work submitted in support of his or her application, in promotional or historical material, press releases or other publicity, documents or information relating to The Elizabeth Greenshields Foundation. The Foundation welcomes applications throughout the year. First-time applicants may apply at any time after their 18th birthday. Previous grantees may apply for a second or third grant one year or more after the award of their previous grant. Previous applicants who have not received a grant may reapply after two years. For more information, please visit: http://www.elizabethgreenshieldsfoundation.org/main.html

Marion Barr Stanfield and Pauly D’Orlando Art Scholarships

Mrs. Stanfield stated that the Stanfield Scholarship committee should take into consideration, "Not only the intellectual attainments and potentialities of the beneficiaries but that they consider whether in character and constructive spiritual philosophy the beneficiaries are most likely to use their legal training and their training in art for the betterment of humankind." The deadline for the completed application (Word, 8 pages; preferred format) (PDF) is February 15 (Application Checklist). The Marion Barr Stanfield Art Scholarship is for either graduate or undergraduate Unitarian Universalist students preparing for a career in fine arts. The terms of the trust limit eligibility to those in the study of painting, drawing, photography, and/or sculpture.
Performing arts majors are not eligible. Scholarships are awarded for one year; however students may reapply each year if they wish to continue receiving financial assistance. Scholarship winners are notified in May for the academic year that begins the following September.

Professional-Development Fellowship for MFA Candidates

CAA’s Professional-Development Fellowships program supports promising artists, designers, craftspersons, historians, curators, and critics who are enrolled in MFA, PhD, and other terminal degree programs nationwide. Fellows are honored with $10,000 grants to help them with various aspects of their work, whether it be for job-search expenses or purchasing materials for the studio. CAA believes a grant of this kind, without contingencies, can best facilitate the transition between graduate studies and professional careers. One award will be presented to a practitioner—an artist, designer, and/or craftsperson—and one award will be presented to an art, architecture, and/or design historian, curator, or critic. Fellows also receive a free one-year CAA membership and complimentary registration to the Annual Conference. Honorable mentions, given at the discretion of the jury, also earn a free one-year CAA membership and complimentary conference registration.
CAA initiated its fellowship program in 1993 to help student artists and art historians bridge the gap between their graduate studies and professional careers.
