Fashion Show Tickets Now on Sale

CHICAGO — Nick Cave, professor and chair of the School of the Art Institute of Chicago (SAIC) Fashion Design Department, proudly announces that SAIC will present its 77th annual fashion show, Fashion 2011, on Thursday, May 5, 2011. For the first time in its storied history, the show will take place against the backdrop of beautiful Millennium Park, in a tented venue at Chase Promenade North (201 E. Randolph Street). Tickets to the show, which traditionally sell out well in advance, are on sale now.

Fashion 2011

Fashion and art lovers from around the world will have four opportunities to experience a spectacular runway show featuring more than 250 original garments created by the next generation of up-and-coming designers, undergraduate students in SAIC's Fashion Design program, and worn by 60 professional models from Factor Runway.

Fashion 2011 delivers all the elements of a professional fashion show—stunning design, tight choreography, exquisite garments, and cutting-edge looks—by incorporating and combining techniques from the fields of sculpture, performance, art, design, technology, architecture and installation. Seniors in SAIC's acclaimed Fashion Design department will create complete collections of five garments, and sophomores and juniors will show prime examples of their designs.

THE WALK 2011 PRESENTED BY SWAROVSKI

SAIC is also proud to host THE WALK 2011 presented by Swarovski, the annual gala benefit held in conjunction with the fashion show. This year's chairs are Marilyn Fields and Greg Cameron of Chicago. The co-chairs are Denise Gardner and Kate Neisser of Chicago.

Proceeds from THE WALK 2011 presented by Swarovski benefit scholarships for SAIC students. Last year the event raised more than $310,000, and included the presentation of the $25,000 Eunice W. Johnson Fellowship to senior Luis A. Rodriguez (SAIC BFA 2010) to help him launch his line after graduation.

"THE WALK is among the premier cultural events in the city, and it directly supports student scholarships," said SAIC President Walter Massey. "By investing in these students we enable them to create work that is remarkably sophisticated, creative, and professional. THE WALK gives students a platform to share their work. What I love about the show is not only the work, but the interaction with the students. You really feel their passion for what they are doing; it comes through palpably."

SALLY SINGER TO PRESENT 2011 SAIC LEGEND OF FASHION AWARD TO IKRAM GOLDMAN

A highlight of THE WALK 2011 presented by Swarovski will be when T: The New York Times Style Magazine Editor Sally Singer (formerly Fashion News and Features Director at Vogue) presents the SAIC Legend of Fashion Award to Ikram Goldman, owner of the renowned boutique ikram and trusted advisor to style-conscious women, First Lady Michelle Obama among them.

Ikram Goldman is a leader among fashion tastemakers, offering her clientele a treasure trove of the best in women's fashion. Since opening her Chicago boutique, ikram, in 2001, the Israeli-born Goldman has showcased such stand-out American, European and Japanese designers as Azzedine Alaia, Lanivn, Chanel, Thakoon, Rodarte, Isabel Toledo, and Jason Wu, whose flowing, full-length inaugural gown was personally selected by Goldman for First Lady Michelle Obama. Named to the 2009 "It List" by Elle magazine and attracting regular notice for her boutique in Vogue, W and Harper's Bazaar, Goldman serves as a fashion advisor to other high-profile Chicago women including Desiree Rogers, Mellody Hobson, and Linda Johnson Rice of the Ebony publishing empire. Committed to nurturing the next generation of fashion designers, Goldman has been a fixture at THE WALK in recent years, noting new talent and offering insights to the school's fashion faculty and students.

Distribution of THE WALK 2011 presented by Swarovski Student Awards will be overseen by Goldman with input from SAIC Fashion Design Department faculty and other special guests to be announced. Goldman's extensive industry contacts and generosity will play a large role in determining the various components of the Student Awards.

"Ikram is the perfect choice for this award. She is a visionary, not only within the world of fashion, but within the world of art and culture," said SAIC Fashion Design Department Chair Nick Cave. "A visionary doesn't function solely in the present, but sees into the future. Ikram has that ability. She functions from a place that is about growth and about one's life continuing to evolve, reform, and reshape itself."
