Enrollment

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Enrollment

On this page, enter the number of candidates for an initial teaching credential who are enrolled in the initial teacher preparation programs within your institution of higher education (IHE) or organization. Do not report on the total number of students enrolled in the entire IHE. Do not include individuals who currently hold a teaching credential and are seeking additional licenses or endorsements, or individuals preparing for school-based careers other than classroom teachers (e.g., administrators, guidance counselors).

The Department recognizes that in many cases, candidates voluntarily report their race/ethnicity and gender data, and that in some cases, candidates may choose not to report this information. Please report on the race/ethnicity data you have available, though the data may not be complete. It is not expected that the sum of the enrolled students reported by race/ethnicity or by gender will necessarily equal the total number of students enrolled.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the candidates enrolled in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the candidates enrolled in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the candidates enrolled in the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the enrollment data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Enrollment

For the purpose of Title II reporting, an enrolled student is defined as a student who has been admitted to a teacher preparation program, but who has not completed the program during the academic year being reported. An individual who completed the program during the academic year being reported is counted as a program completer and not an enrolled student.

Provide the number of students in the teacher preparation program in the following categories. Note that you must report on the number of students by ethnicity and race separately. Individuals who are non-Hispanic/Latino will be reported in one of the race categories. Also note that individuals can belong to one or more racial groups, so the sum of the members of each racial category may not necessarily add up to the total number of students enrolled. Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2017-18. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Completers

On this page, enter the total number of individuals who completed the program in AY 2017-18 and the two prior academic years. If you submitted an IPRC last year, the number of program completers for the two prior academic years are pre-loaded from your prior year's report.

A program completer is a person who has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program. Program completers include all those who are documented as having met such requirements. Documentation may take the form of a degree, institutional certificate, program credential, transcript or other written proof of having met the program's requirements. In applying this definition, the fact that an individual has or has not been recommended to the state for initial certification or licensure may not be used as a criterion for determining who is a program completer.

An individual cannot be classified as both enrolled and as a program completer at the same time. An enrolled individual is not a program completer. Once an individual has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program and becomes a program completer, the individual is no longer classified as enrolled.

After entering the program completers, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teacher Education Network (TEN) that shares professional expertise and resources. TEN members (mentor teachers), drawn from a diverse network of schools work with SAIC faculty to collectively design, implement, and evaluate field experiences and clinical practice so that SAIC teacher candidates develop and demonstrate the knowledge, skills, and professional dispositions necessary to help all students learn. The Unit's Conceptual Framework expresses a commitment to the development of educators who engage learners through curriculum and pedagogy related to social, cultural, economic and political contexts in relationship to self, community, and the world. All candidates complete core coursework and field experiences in urban and outlying area schools with diverse student and faculty populations that address the needs of students with disabilities, students from low-income families and those who are limited English Proficient and English Language Learners. Candidates use a variety of instructional strategies to support the needs of all learners in developing critical thinking, problem solving and performance skills.

TECHNOLOGY Faculty employ digital technologies in most art education courses—making extensive use of Canvas (SAIC's digital learning platform), various Google educational products, and a variety of software programs. SAIC faculty and teacher candidates utilize Canvas as course home site to distribute materials, as sites for peer sharing Discussion Boards, and as portals to submit and retain documentation of SAIC student work. This system has been extensively integrated into the SAIC teacher preparation program courses, allowing the Unit to advance and deepen the use of technology for designing, implementing, and assessing their work in teacher preparation program courses to improve teaching and learning. Most assignments are first collected and critiqued using digital technologies such as Google docs, allowing for ongoing collaboration amongst SAIC students and faculty. All teacher candidates are required to integrate technology into their art curriculum, and to use it for instruction in the classroom during their fieldwork and apprentice teaching semesters. Teacher candidates in these courses design and implement lesson plans and curricula that introduce their students to software and equipment to create, edit, and distribute still and moving images. Teacher candidates take a wide range of art and design courses, including four-dimensional (time arts) technologies, digitally produced design or a cyber-pedagogy course. The media center at SAIC supports the free access and availability of digital tools for our candidates' use throughout their time in the teacher preparation program. In the courses Fieldwork: Elementary and Secondary Experiences and Apprentice Teaching: Elementary and Secondary, there are multiple assignments that require photographic and video documentation of teaching and learning. Teacher candidates share and discuss this work with their SAIC faculty supervisors and peers in seminar classes to critique and improve teacher performance and student learning. SAIC Art Education teacher candidates are familiar with and regularly use Adobe Suite products such as Photoshop, Illustrator, and InDesign to prepare curricular materials. Students are also prepared to teach digital technologies to their students. The project/lesson plan format for SAIC Art Education requires that teacher candidates use digital presentation formats (such as PowerPoint, Google Slides, Keynote or Prezi) to create lessons about artists and art-making techniques. A culminating experience of the SAIC Teacher Education programs is a digital presentation of significant student work generated during the Apprentice Teaching experience. Twice yearly the SAIC Art Education Program hosts Teacher Education Network meetings. (TEN is our outside advisory board made up of mentor teachers, alumni, and professionals in the field.) A frequent topic of presentation and conversation is new uses of digital technologies in teaching. Since 2014 teacher candidates complete the edTPA student teaching assessment in the spring semester in their final academic year. This assessment portfolio asks teacher candidates to document their preparation for teaching practices, assessment strategies, and teaching reflection on their student teaching experiences. For this portfolio-based assessment, teacher candidates create and organize digital files—text, video, scans of their students' written work, and photos of student artwork. The teacher candidates reflect on how they integrated technology into their lessons by collecting managing, and analyzing their data to effectively respond to the edTPA prompts.

Teacher Training

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(G\))

a. teach students with disabilities effectively

- Yes
 No

b. participate as a member of individualized education program teams

- Yes
 No

c. teach students who are limited English proficient effectively

- Yes

2. Provide a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares general education teachers to teach students with disabilities effectively, including training related to participation as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, and to effectively teach students who are limited English proficient. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the three elements listed above are not currently in place.

SAIC's teacher education program prepares candidates to teach students with special needs and disabilities effectively throughout the program. The Histories, Philosophies and Theories of American Public Education course investigates the historical, legal and political realities of teaching students with disabilities, including attention to the Individuals with Disability Act (IDEA) and Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA). It also considers the history and curricular responses to language diversity including methods for addressing second language learner needs throughout school curriculum. The Psychological, Sociological, and Phenomenological Approaches to Teaching course investigates historical and current theories and philosophies of human growth and development, creativity, artistic development, cognition, disabilities, differentiated instruction, social and emotional learning, and culturally responsive curriculum. Course readings, field trips and observations in special education learning environments inform both the development of critical frameworks for considering the social construction of disabilities as well as methods for supporting all students in effective learning. Each year, teacher candidates in this course visit at least one school in Chicago serving students with special hearing, vision, and mobility needs and learn from teachers in those settings. The Doing Democracy course combines the study of critical theory with direct engagement in under-served neighborhoods throughout Chicago in order to prepare candidates to teach in diverse communities. The Curriculum and Instruction, Cultural Approaches to Production, Fieldwork: Elementary and Secondary Experiences and Apprentice Teaching courses include lesson planning with accommodations and modifications for exceptional students, including students with disabilities and students with limited English proficiency. In C & I, teacher candidates prepare lessons that include strategizing and planning for work with ELL students. This is achieved through classroom observations and co-teaching experiences, supported by discussions and relevant readings and videos. Each semester, under the direct supervision of faculty, candidates in this class teach, small groups of students in a school with a high ELL population or a dual language immersion program within the city of Chicago. During this directed field experience, teacher candidates are able to link theory to practice in a meaningful way that positively informs effective teaching strategies for limited English proficient students All curriculum that SAIC teacher candidate's teach include differentiated instruction and curricular adaptations for diverse K-

12 learners. All candidates are placed in Chicago Public Schools or in schools in districts surrounding Chicago that include students for whom English is a second language. During all levels of teacher education coursework, teacher candidates develop lesson plans and teaching strategies that support literacy and reading, addressing the needs of English language learners and other diverse learners. Teacher candidates learn to identify, edit, and re-write content area readings that will be suitable for all learners. The program prepares teacher candidates to understand and implement Individualized Education Program plans during the Psychological, Sociological, and Phenomenological Approaches to Teaching course. During Fieldwork: Elementary and Secondary Experience and Apprentice Teaching courses, teacher candidates work with Cooperating Teachers to create individualized curriculum and learning strategies for students with either official IEPs or teacher-identified needs.

c. teach students who are limited English proficient effectively

4. Provide a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares special education teachers to teach students with disabilities effectively, including training related to participation as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, and to effectively teach students who are limited English proficient. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the three elements listed above are not currently in place.

Contextual Information

Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card (see below). The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

The School of the Art Institute of Chicago (SAIC) is accredited by the National Association of Schools of Art and Design (NASAD) the national accrediting agency for art and design and art and design-related disciplines, primarily at the collegiate level and the Higher Learning Commission (HLC), North Central Association. In Spring 2013, SAIC underwent an on-site visit and review of the Self-Study report during a re-accreditation review by NASAD and HLC. During this review, the team commended the Unit on the assessment process as it supported teacher candidate learning. Both HLC and NASAD have conferred another ten-year accreditation on the School of the Art Institute of Chicago. SAIC undergraduate teacher candidates must achieve at least average performance in the content area and teacher preparation program courses (the traditional grade equivalent of a C) in order to earn CR (credit). Graduate teacher candidates must achieve the traditional grade equivalent of a B or better within the same courses at the master's level in order to earn CR (credit). The pre-clinical and clinical teacher candidates are assessed at multiple points in the program with a numeric and narrative based evaluation process. These assessments use a 1-5 Likert scale to measure candidate's progress. Scores of 5 correspond with the letter grade A, 4 equals letter grade B, etc. Undergraduate clinical candidates with final evaluation averages below 3 in the Apprentice Teaching course will not be eligible to be recommended for teacher licensure without completing remedial experiences. Graduate clinical candidates with final evaluation averages below 4 in the same course will not be eligible to be recommended for teacher licensure without remedial experiences. The Teacher Education committee comprised of full-time art education faculty reviews any instances in which teacher candidates fail to successfully complete any component of the Fieldwork: Elementary and Secondary Experiences or Apprentice Teaching courses. The committee reviews the case to identify problems and determines a suitable course of action, including remediation support and completing additional practicum hours in order to successfully pass the course, dismissal from the program, or the opportunity to re-enroll in either course,
