Accelerated Curriculum

We provide students who have an undergraduate degree with an accelerated curriculum. Some students enter the program as transitional preparation for graduate school, while others use its practical groundwork to prepare for internships and careers in the fashion industry.

Creating a Collection

The program offers formal coursework with methods and materials-oriented labs, studio research and development, and art and design history courses. The three-semester intensive advances students' skills in engaging with cloth as a medium and guides each student through the creation of a personal fashion collection.

Breadth of Possibilities

Through theory courses and a wide range of electives, students explore a combination of dedicated design studios, topical seminars, self-directed research, technical labs, and design history while focusing in-depth on their individual practices.
